REGENTS ESTABLISH EIGHT DEPARTMENTS FOR MUNICIPAL UNI.

Tuition Rates Now Under Consideration

TO ENLARGE FACULTY

The university regents have established eight separate departments for the university, and named practically all members of the present faculty for the next year, at an increase in salary. The tuition rates are under consideration, and also the enlargement of the faculty.

The eight departments created are Education and psychology, English, foreign language, history, government and economics, mathematics, philosophy, science, and sociology. Other departments recommended are Business administration, fine and applied arts, physical education, and home economics, which is to be temporarily discontinued.

President-elect W. E. Sealock made a recent trip east in an effort to find suitable heads for these departments. Because of the rules of the North Central Association of Colleges, it is necessary that the heads or at least a member of each department hold a doctor of philosophy degree, or its equivalent.

Dr. W. Gilbert James has been selected to have charge of the English department for next year, and Dr. T. Earl Sullenger, of sociology. As yet, no definite selections have been made for the remaining departments.

A tuition schedule has been recommended by Dr. Sealock with the approval of the committee on faculty relations. This rate, less matriculation and laboratory fees, would amount to approximately $130 for residents of Omaha, and $200 for non-residents.

"The tuition," stated Mr. Paul L. Martin, chairman of the faculty relations committee, "cannot be fixed until the budget is worked out."

The athletic program, publicity, and other features are still in doubt.

Dr. Sealock Back East Interviewing Doctors

Desirous of securing additional faculty members for the Omaha University, Dr. Sealock made a tour of the eastern states last week. He divided his time at Chicago, Ann Arbor, Michigan; Columbus, Ohio; and Minneapolis, Minnesota.

On last Friday morning, Dr. Sealock stopped in Omaha for a few minutes before returning to his duties at Lincoln. He had hoped to secure about eight doctors for the university, although he interviewed many applicants in each city.

Prof. L. O. Taylor's class in secondary education visited South High school, observing vision instruction in General Science, taught by Mr. Smith; Auto Mechanics by Mr. Shelby; a class in Electricity by Mr. Trussell. Those making the trip included Jane Marshall, Edna Smith, Alice Zimmer, Mrs. E. L. Lindquist, Marjorie Darling, Freddie Widoe, Carl Uhlarik, Lucille Gray, and Don Marshall.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Of the two members elected from their respective classes and organizations at the coming Student Council election, the one receiving the greatest number of votes will hold the office for one year and the other for one semester.

All results of election of the Pan-Hellenic and Barb Council representatives as well as the junior class representatives to the Student Council must be turned in to the present Student Council before noon, May 15.

BAXTERS RETURN HOME FROM EXTENDED CRUISE

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Baxter will return from an extended Mediterranean cruise about the first of May. They stopped at Italy and France on their tour.

They sailed from Cherbourg on board the Mauretania on the eighteenth of this month, and will arrive in New York the latter part of this week. They will come directly to Omaha.

Mr. Baxter was one of the prime promoters of the new Municipal University; aiding the faculty, and helping in the voting campaign.

Barb Council Elected At Barb Social Held Last Wednesday Nite

At a social meeting of the Barbs held Wednesday evening, April 22, in the cafeteria, a council to be known as the Barb Council was elected. The purpose of this organization is to promote the activities of the non-fraternity and sorority members.

The following were elected: Senior class representatives, Rowena Anderson, Lorane Shonfelt, and John Roberts; Juniors: Mabel Shively, Maxine Delavan, and Wilbur Olson; Sophomore: Kenneth Hubler, Elizabeth Wendland and Cleo Butler; Freshman: Dorothy Mutz, Marian Benson, and Harold Eggen.

At this meeting the constitution was read by John Roberts; and a motion was carried that it be adopted. This constitution was drafted by a committee composed of John Roberts, chairman, Alice Zimmer, Marian Benson, Bruce Gideon, and Prof. H. R. Orr.

The evening was in charge of the social committee, composed of Mabel Shively, chairman, Cleo Butler, Lorane Shonfelt, and Ralph Walton.

Program Given by Miss Anderson's Pupils

The lecture-program planned by Miss Johanna Anderson of the Conservatory faculty showing the development of vocal music from the time of Christ to the present has been requested by three different organizations. Though the dates are not absolutely fixed, they will probably be as follows: Monday evening, May 11, at Joslyn Hall auditorium for the benefit of the University and Conservatory students; Sunday evening, May 10, at the First Baptist Church, Council Bluffs; and Tuesday evening, May 26, at the Art Institute for the Omaha Music Teachers' association.

As far as Miss Anderson knows, no program of a similar nature has ever been presented in Omaha. The chorus is made up of a number of her pupils, who will sing both religious and secular music. The students have been working on this program since last October, several numbers of which are very difficult. Some of the music has had to be copied from histories as it could not be gotten from the publishers. Some has been imported from Europe.

Notwithstanding that the preparation for this event has incurred considerable expense, the program will be given without admission. It is hoped that many will attend as it will be of general interest and very well done.

HONORARY FRAT MEMBS

The University chapter of the National Honorary Sociological society met Saturday evening, April 25, at the home of Mrs. F. H. Oak, 1816 Spencer Street, where certificates from the national office were presented to the new members.

Miss Verne Shell gave a report of her research project, "The Church as a Preventative and Rehabilitative Agency of Juvenile Delinquency." Mrs. T. E. Sullenger assisted Mrs. Oak as hostess.

COMMITTEE GIVES TALKS FOR GRACE YAO FUND

In order to reach the largest number of students for Grace Yao, time was given in the classes Thursday and Friday of last week for talks by the Campaign Committee.

All those who have pledged money for Grace Yao are asked to pay as soon as possible in order that the money be sent to her.

If there is any one who wishes a "check" and has not received one, he may obtain one by going to Mrs. Stevens' office.

"Butter and Egg Man" Is Given Successfully To Appreciative Crowd

Congratulations are due the seniors and their assistants for the fine performance of George S. Kaufman's "The Butter and Egg Man," Friday evening, April 24, at the North High auditorium. A nice crowd greeted the players and added to the success of the play.

Hope Welburn and Fred Widoe in the leading romantic roles played their parts admirably, while Russell Baker and N. K. Woerner brought down the house in their humorous portrayal of the two crafty show producers. Rose Weber seemed especially apt at making her cocktails spurt out between her teeth while Robert Hegarty proved equally apt in mixing them for her.

The other players were Patricia Murphy as the star of the musical comedy around which the play centered, Charles Gardner, director of the show, Maxine Munt and Howard Fisher as a young couple, Myrtle Grip as a switchboard operator, Robert Vierling alternating between a hotel manager and a show producer, and Paul Brauner as a lawyer.

The staff consisted of Vera Schucknecht, stage manager; Hugh Hanks, business manager; Ruth McKenzie, property manager; and Evelyn McDonald, director of a twenty-five piece orchestra which played during intermission. Mrs. Fritz Baumeister directed the play.

Classes to Make Trip to Glenwood

About 80 of the educational, psychology, pre-medic, and some of the sociology students will make the annual trip to Glenwood, Thursday, April 30, to go through the Iowa State Institute for the Feeble-minded.

The morning will be devoted to observation of class room instruction. At noon, box lunches are to be served on the campus. The afternoon will be given over to inspecting clinical cases. A member of the staff will give an address, and an entertainment composed of music will be furnished by some of the children of the institution.

The party will leave Omaha at 8 a. m. in busses and automobiles furnished by the students. Miss Frances E. Wood, Mrs. Rene S. Stevens, Prof. L. M. Bradfield, and Prof. Irwin A. Hammer will be in charge of the trip.

Berrymans Present Pupils in Recital

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Berryman presented a group of twenty pupils in a piano recital, Tuesday, April 28, in the Schmoller and Mueller Auditorium.

Among these pupils presented were Miss Catherine Clow of the Conservatory of Music faculty, Edward Berryman, young son of the Berrymans, played "Four Pieces From Childhood Scenes" by Schumann.

Doris Lee Green, age three, played three of her original compositions which are called "Mangrove," "Johnny Went Up the Highway," "Daddy Rodeoed."

Milvina Jetter and Ruth Munt presented musical numbers, April 2, at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Hartberg.

For the past seventeen years, Gala Day has been an annual festival and every one waits with interest to see the first Gala Day under the new administration of the Municipal University. Friday, May 22, has been set aside this year for the eighteenth annual festival.

The program, for this day affords many pleasures and to miss any part of the many things that are to happen throughout the day and evening will be to miss one of the biggest days in the school year. The program begins early in the morning when a track meet will be staged at North High school and is followed throughout the day by golf, baseball and tennis tournaments, until the climax of the day is unfolded at 6:30 o'clock at Kuntze park, when the May Queen will be crowned.

The dances to be presented at the coronation are under the direction of Mrs. Fritz Baumeister. Many girls will take part in this part of the program, and if this is as successful as in years gone by, beautiful dances will be seen.

Immediately following the coronation at the Park the usual Gala Nite Show, which has always been a great success, is to be presented at Jacobs Hall at 8:00 o'clock.

The Chairman of the Central Committee, Earl Hargrove, has appointed the following committee, chairman: Donald Marshall—Manager of Coronation.

Carleton Williams—Publicity Manager.

Walter Ottman—Stage Manager. Charles Gardner—Electrician.

Tickets for the show may be secured from any fraternity or sorority member, according to Chair E. Hargrove.

Prof. Kuhn Preparing For European Tour

Prof. Albert Kuhn is in the midst of his preparation for his third extension tour of Europe. The journey will begin June 20, from New York. Southern England, London and the Shakespeare country will be visited first. Then the party will cross the channel to Holland; visit Cologne with its famous Dome, take a boat up the romantic Rhine Valley, cross central Germany to Berlin, hence south to Dresden, and Prague; spend several days at Vienna and Munich, motor through the most beautiful parts of Switzerland, visit the Italian Lakes and the famous Italian towns of Milan, Venice, Florence, Rome, and Genoa.

Then they will cross into France, visit the beautiful Riviera, the medieval town of Avignon, and cross the tour by a five day visit to Paris.

The group of tourists consists mostly of teachers and college students though other travelers are not excluded. Last year these came from some fifteen states, seventy-five people in all. Just how many will make the tour this year is not known as yet.

Prof. Kuhn offers students an opportunity to assist him in a survey of Omaha for possible members of the tour, with good remuneration for services rendered.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

The announcement of the next fest and speakers for the next Forum will be posted on the bulletin boards and the blackboard.

GROW WITH OUR MUNY UNI!

May 6—What?—Is it possible? Yes, friends, it will be a year next week since we stood in the rain and pleaded for Muny Uni until we were hoarse, then went right on expressing ourselves in gestures until our voices returned once more. Twelve months ago next week the people of Omaha made possible a continued and ever-larger school here. The Municipal University of Omaha is no longer an infant in swaddling clothes, but a lusty yearling!

Enthusiastic plans and programs for next year show how the city is abiding with its part of the bargain. And the students! Ninety-five per cent are doing their bit, no doubt, but lately a small fraction, who seem determined to enter upon a second kindergarten age have made themselves increasingly conspicuous. If the school is to attain the dignity which should accompany a university, members of this infantile minority must see themselves as others see them, and become, not clowns, but students, ready for a good time in the manner of young men and women rather than as children in the elementary grades.

Let's grow with our university!

Every day is a fresh beginning,
 Every morn is the world made new;
 You who are weary of sorrow and sinning
 Here is beautiful hope for you—
 A hope for me, and a hope for you.

START THINKING!

Now is the time of year when all the elections are taking place. Student Council, Barb Council, Pan-Hellenic, class elections, and above all the election of capable persons to fill the capacity of editors and business managers of the student publications.

The student body should begin to cast around for persons for these four positions which mean work, and a great deal of time. Those persons who are considering running for these offices should consider carefully whether they are willing to work, to spend practically all of their spare time, and have a program which will enable them to work in the day time instead of at night.

Then there are those persons to be elected to the Student Council. They should be considered from the standpoint of level headedness, logical reasoning, ability to set down rules and follow them—and in general to be executives, for the Student Council is the ruling body of the school. Persons should not be selected merely because of their popularity, but on the grounds of their willingness to work.

Have you noticed that on this campus, the persons who have once held an office rarely go in for that office a second time. They realize the amount of time and work which it takes to fill these places sincerely and loyally.

Along with these reminders, let us not forget to tell those outgoing officers how much we appreciate what they have done for each of us as individuals and for the student body as a whole. They deserve a pat on the back because this year has been especially hard pulling. But we have gotten through in great shape; even though we may have slipped up on a few things, these will be overlooked when compared with our accomplishments.

The skies may meet in sadness,
 The blustering winds may blow;
 But if our hearts are cheery
 There's sunshine where we go.

Build your home in some good woman's heart, and stick close to your own friends.

A SUPPLICATION!

There may be some persons who will complain when the newspaper comes out because their functions were not mentioned or their affairs negligently forgotten. There seems to be an attitude on the campus to treat the reporters as dogs, or perhaps slaves. The paper is trying to serve you as well as it can but you must cooperate.

There are only two more issues of this paper to be published. It is up to the Student Body, or should we say a few, who refuse to tell reporters plain facts, to get with us. We are not able to get out a paper without any news.

We want your news. We are newspaper reporters trained to keep still on certain secret stories, but we certainly are not mind readers.

So please help us to get your news straight and in print!

Please Tell Me!

Dear Cynthia:

Do you think that there will ever be a renewed interest in forestry? I am an ardent lover of nature, and am very much concerned about such matters.

Your friend,
 Regina Maag.

Dear Regina:

I wouldn't commit myself, but I believe that as soon as the timber supply gets so low that it endangers the supply of golf and baseball bats, it will then be possible to arouse interest in forestry.

Helpfully yours,
 Cynthia.
 P. S.—I thought you loved Ed.

Dear Cynthia:

What do you think of all these breakfast foods that are being invented? I've been wondering what the difference between "Vanilla Sweeties" and "Honey Bee" is. Perhaps it is just the name.

Wonderingly,
 Earl Hargrove.

Dear Earl:

So you are wondering about your "daily bread" again. You should know better. However, I think that if these straw manufacturers keep on trying, they will invent a breakfast food that will be absolutely tasteless. Does that answer your question? What does your Grace think?

Cynthia.

Dear Cynthia:

I have a few questions here which I would like to have answered. They are dealing with various subjects. Prof. Johnson gave them to us for Medieval History. He does not agree with the answers which I gave, so I have come to you for assistance.

1. How do people go about Venice?
2. What is a brunette? (Was he just kidding us?)
3. What is a figure of speech?
4. What is a circle?
1. What did the Normans produce?

Your pal,
 Maxine Delavan.

Darling Maxine:

The answers to your questions are as follows:

1. People go about Venice in Gonzolas.
2. A brunette is a young bear.
3. A figure of speech is a way of talking or writing by which you say what you don't mean, and yet mean what you say.
4. A circle is a line which meets the other end without ending.
5. The Normans introduced the Frugal System—I believe Hoover was present at that time also.

Cynthia.

WHO'S WHO AT THE U. OF O.

Large brown eyes, too flashing to ever be dreamy, soft brown hair in a chic bob, a brilliant smile, all embodied in a decisive, vivacious person, certainly no taller than five feet two,—Miss Elma Cove,—pardon,—Mrs. Harry White.

This decidedly peppy and thoroughly interesting individual was graduated from Central High, the school on the hill, in '26. After an introduction to the University by way of office work with Miss Barnes, registrar, and by two spring semesters which completed her freshman year, she enrolled as a sophomore in '28. For two years Elma worked as Assistant Librarian of our school library and last summer she carried on that noble office alone.

While a freshman, this young lady, then named Miss Cove, acted as a member of the Ad staff of the Gateway, and the school annual. This activity followed a similar one on the staff of the Central High School Register. While still a freshman, she, she became engaged to Harry White, whom we remember as president of the senior class last year.

"I really had to," stated Elma. "I had been said that all students who get married while in college, become engaged in their freshman year, and I had to live up to that."

Following up the love of athletics which she evidenced in high school, Elma was for three years a participant in Glee Day Activities.

Not the least of her achievements is her part in organizing the Omaha chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, a national literary fraternity, of which chapter she is now president.

Throughout Elma's school career, especially in the X, of which Harry was also a member, the two, Elma and Harry, were continually being put on the same committees, such as the social committee, and the Gospel Team. That couldn't go on forever, so last March they took a vacation from school, and returned shortly after, as Mr. and Mrs.

As no interview is really complete until you hear the voice of the person under observation, you, my dear reader, should call Webster 4044, and ask Mrs. Harry White her hobby, that customary and thoroughly dependable question for reporters.

You take the telephone, give the number in response to the usual query of a typical telephone operator, and after a short ringing process, your efforts are rewarded. A voice slightly below medium pitch answers, and in reply to your question speaks in a pleasing tone, and with an almost staccato rapidity.

"Hobbies? I haven't time for them. Of course, I like hockey, and baseball, and basketball, but most of my time I spend in trying to get someone else to do something. Is that all you wanted? Alright, goodbye."

And a click, also staccato, ends the interview.

CUBS CORNER

The literary corner is intended for the publication of amateur poetry and short prose selections written exclusively by the students of the University of Omaha. The encouragement of talent along literary lines is its earnest aim. Any contributions from students will be welcome.

THE KISS WITH A THRILL

Where is the kiss with a thrill? What has happened to this stimulant of love? Has it lost its power? Yes!! Wine ceases to be a stimulant when diluted with water and taken as a daily diet—even a potent drug loses its magic power when it becomes a habit. If diamonds were as plentiful as dandelions, who would covet them, or find them desirable?

If you would impart flavor and a thrill, don't be so free with your kisses—Be discriminating, don't waste your caresses upon the fair and unfair alike. Do not be enticed—resist with strength, wit, and diplomacy. A man respects and admires a modest woman's reticence and restraint.

All so called "petting" leads to boredom. Of kissing and giving of kisses there is too much. Why not try a little total abstinence—Then when you kiss, kiss with fervor, tenderness, and genuine enthusiasm. A kiss with a thrill must be at least one-half of one per cent sincere.

Anonymous.

BY THE WAYSIDE

A pale rose swayed by the wayside,
 As a gentle and roving wind
 Caressing in passing,
 Breathes admiration kind.

'Twas a weary little gesture,
 And her petals fell like tears,
 In silent grief for the face of a friend,
 Who passed by with the years.

Book Review

The pattern of Louis Marlow's latest novel, "The Lion Took Flight," is not unfamiliar. It is one of the conventional seashore, with a few people who are isolated against a wide horizon and themselves. They are all enclosed in the confines of human desires, and they are driven by the need for satisfaction.

Their yearning—is at times sad, again it is comic, and often it is contemptible. Louis Marlow is very honest with his people and his vision of their spending days in futile juxtaposition, and occasionally he creates a terrifying reality.

Mrs. Derrick is afraid to be unoccupied; as are so many of the modern mothers. At the time of the story she is a collector of celebrities. Her husband, Mr. Derrick, has ceased trying, and he is nothing more than a shadowy figure that catches a train for London.

Lois, one of their two daughters and quite a young lady, demands for her existence very little more than masculine attention. She has no understanding of her morose, troubled sister, Julia, whose "mouth is too near her nose."

Mr. Brangdon, a nicely bearded stranger, is more a devil than a lion with Julia; and he almost escapes when he becomes afraid of her youthful passion. Mr. Brangdon is a very devote admirer of Mr. Brangdon, with all the concentration of which his little mind is capable, and he is more than annoying for being the embodiment of a complacency only generally distributed.

The Stalhams are the neighbors, and they increase Julia's uncertainty by their strange grotesque life.

Julia is the book; for the story is one of a child who changes from an adolescent to a disillusioned woman as so many of the modern young people do. The rest of the characters in the book are only important in their relation to her; she lives, changes, and suffers, while they remain the same.

She goes through one disagreeable scene after another; that of being unloved by Paula, a girl friend; of being ugly and separate; of having a nasty encounter with Dr. Stalhams, from which time on Julia hates all men.

That is, she hates them until the superior attention of Mr. Brangdon releases her mind and body and soul. When she discovers his triviality and deception, she comes of age; in a little while she looks upon the loss of her love and smiles faintly as she admits that in the morning it will matter less.

Julia is a fine and sensitive typical American child, doomed to pain; one feels that through her, Louis Marlow is expressing his belief that the spiritual grace of life is checked out by the rank weeds that flourish.

There are many strange things in this book, and those who would not be drawn deeply into life do well to let it pass. However, every modern reader who is a thinker should make an effort to read and study this work of modern life.

Miscellany

First Actor: "I hear the leading lady's understudy is getting married."

Second Ditto: "Yes, she's found a speaking part at last."

"Pay attention to the cooking today. I have company."

"Yes, ma'am. Do you want them to come again or not?"

Clerk of Court: "I believe you have appeared before as a witness in this suit."

Sweet Young Thing (coolly): "Why, this is the first time I've worn it."

Diner: "Walter, that was certainly an excellent steak!"

Walter: "Good heavens, man, I must have given you the owner's steak!"

Perhaps this is the oldest Scotch story: The Scotchman went out in to the back yard, fired off his shotgun, and then told his children that Santa Clause had committed suicide.

The question in the biology examination was, "What is the cause of dew?"

One student answered as follows: "The earth goes round with such speed that it works up a perspiration. This is called dew."

First Spinster: "Sister, would a great, big stocking hold all you want for Christmas?"

Second Spinster: "No, but a pair of socks would."

Mr. Whitman: Oh, Miss Winters, do you have "Time" in the library? Jeanette: Why, yes, I have lots of time in the Library, but I'm going to class now.

Mad Father: "I'll teach you to make love to my daughter!"

Daughter's Boy: "I wish you would, old boy, I'm not making much headway."

Warden (to prisoner): You say you want a key. What in thunder are you going to use it for?

Inmate: I want to sleep home at night—I was only sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Guest: "I hope that there are no barking dogs in any of the adjoining rooms?"

Clerk: "No, indeed, madam. Nothing like that at all."

Guest: "Then I'll take the suite. You see, I have two dogs of my own. I really couldn't stand any more."

Father: "Well, my boy, you must make up your mind what you are going in for. What about aviation?"

Son: "Too effeminate."

Mother: "What are you talking to your teacher's fruit shower?"

Jaeger: "Wouldn't a grapefruit be just the thing?"

Maxine Munt, freshman attendant and member of the Phi Delta Phi sorority, has been active in athletics, having played on the University girls' basketball team, and in dramatics.

Warren Wallace, freshman committee man, "big man around town," came to Omaha University from Central High. He is a member of the Phi Sigma Phi fraternity.

Shelby Gamble, the liddle what dances "so divinely" and who was starred in the Pony Chorus last year, is the sophomore committee man and belongs to the Theta Phi Delta fraternity.

Marjorie Darling, junior attendant, is president of the Sigma Chi Omicron sorority and also has a very high scholastic standing. She is up for membership in the honorary chemistry fraternity.

Merwin Hargrove, junior committee man treasurer of the Alpha Sigma Lambda fraternity, president of the Junior Class, is an outstanding student in spite of the vital illness headed interest that holds him more or less. He is also the Advertising Manager of the Gateway.

Donald Marshall, Barb representative, is a member of the Senior class and of the Sigma Tau Delta. National honorary English fraternity.

Earl Hargrove, that hungry looking boy, president of the Alpha Sigma Lambda, president of the Pan Hellenic Council, and secretary of the Senior class, crowns his list of achievements by capturing the place of committee chairman.

The Queen and senior attendant have not been identified as yet.

Tuesday, April 14, Dean Dunlap spoke at the meeting at Arlington, Nebraska.

REFEREES CONTEST

Mr. I. A. Hammer was one of the Referees at the State Spelling contest held last Saturday. The winner of the State contest was the Omaha city Champion, Margaret Morrow of St. John's school.

McCullough Speaks

Colonel T. W. McCullough, Editorial writer for the Bee-News, spoke before the joint American and European History classes at 10:00 a. m., Tuesday. The subject of his talk was "The Value of History." Colonel McCullough also spoke on the history of Nebraska.

BRAVE CHILLY WATERS

Sand Point beach of Carter Lake was the scene last Monday and Tuesday of much splashing and snorting. Several men, the word "men" is used to denote the fact that mere boys could not have done such a thing, of the University of Omaha dared Jack Frost, or whoever does things to make people climatically uncomfortable, and disported their Greek-god like bodies in the cool deep waters of Carter Lake.

Patrick Quinn, of football and hash slinging fame, swam with lusty strokes ten feet out into the lake and then ran like a deer for the soft warm sand of the beach. But such hardies as Sevvick, Bartos, Longmeyer, and Wheatly steamed and chugged over the ruffled surface of the lake scaring little fishes and stepping on broken bottles and clam shells.

After sufficiently cooling their classroom worn bodies, the men donned their clothing and rattled back to the hash house where every one present was regaled in flowing rhetoric the story of the first in of the season.

Attends Language Meeting at Lincoln

Miss Gertrude Kincaide, French instructor, attended the annual meeting of the Nebraska division of the Modern Language Association, held in the University Club at Lincoln, April 24 and 25.

Outstanding among the speeches made, Miss Kincaide thought, was the one by Prof. Harry F. Cunningham of the Architectural department. He stressed the importance of specialties and of being able to read scientific works and other writings in their original language.

MUSIC NOTES

Tuesday, April 17, Ellouise Jetter, soloist, accompanied by Ruth Musil, sang several selections at the Northrup residence for the North Side Women's Club.

Mildred Allen, accompanied by Irene Gooman, entertained the Henry W. Yates P. T. A. with vocal numbers, Wednesday, April 8.

A group of vocal solos were sung by Maxine Delavan, at the Washington school P. T. A., Tuesday, April 21.

On Friday, April 10, Mildred Allen appeared as vocal soloist for the Florence P. T. A.

Maxine Delavan presented a group of vocal number before the Women's Relief Corps, April 24.

Prof. N. J. Logan, Director of the Conservatory, was initiated into the Elks' Club, March 20.

Glendora McLean and Lou Armstrong presented violin and vocal numbers at the Omaha Women's Club, March 10.

Joe Wandersheer was the soloist at the Miller Park P. T. A. on Wednesday, March 11.

Sunday, March 15, at the First Central (Congregational) Church, Carleboth McMill presented several violin numbers.

The Thursday afternoon radio program of April 25 featured Miss Margaret Hovus, instructor of composition at the Conservatory of Music, in a number of readings. The remainder of the program included vocal solos by Mabel Johnson and piano solos by Norman Wubauer.

Persons of Many Occupations Are Found In Extension Classes; Mostly Teachers

A phase of school life at Muni-University with which most of our students are unfamiliar is the work and program of the Extension Department. Under the directorship of Mr. L. O. Taylor, this department is operated from 4:00 until 10:00 o'clock on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings; from 7:00 to 9:00 on Thursday evening; and from 8:30 until 12:30 on Saturday morning.

The Extension department makes it possible for men and women employed during the day time in the business or professional world to obtain a college education, so that they may work toward higher positions and increased salaries.

There are two types of Extension students: those working for college credit; and the audit students, who usually attend classes for cultural purposes only, without receiving credit. These students are exempt from final examinations, and they pay a registration fee slightly lower than do the others.

More than two thirds of the students enrolled in the Extension department this semester are teachers; and the enrollment in two courses is made up entirely of teachers. Students of music, and others, whose daytime classes conflict, forcing them to take night courses, comprise a large portion of the total enrollment in night school.

Besides teachers of nearly every high school subject offered, some of which are art, physical education, dramatics, auto mechanics, electricity, music, commercial subjects, and political science, there are many kindergarten and elementary teachers. One teacher of a sight-saving class, one school nurse, one registered nurse, and the Superintendent of Nurses for the City Board of Education are our representatives from the nursing profession.

A great many stenographers, bookkeepers, typists, and accountants help swell the list of ambitious knowledge seekers. An assistant to the City Engineer, a Real Estate and Insurance dealer, and a jobber of cigars help to give variety and bring new ideas into the class recitations.

The Omaha Public Library lends us three of its competent librarians; and a police reporter, a representative of the World-Herald, is a student of Medieval History within our doors.

A mechanic for the Union Pacific railway, a dancer (a young man, by the way, girls), a chemist, a dealer in antiques, and several house-wives complete this list of diverse and interesting day-time occupations of Omaha's night-time students.

This survey may help to give us a better perspective of the functions of our Extension department and the progress which it has been making toward placing a University education within the grasp of the working people of Omaha.

Since the autumn of 1929 the enrollment in adult education has increased double fold. For the past four semesters, the enrollment has shown a steady march forward.

The best represented occupation is that of teaching with 42 per cent of the total enrollment. However, for the second semester of last year, 75 per cent of the total enrollment were teachers.

Development of Philosophic Thought is the most popular of the 33 different courses offered; others in order of their popularity are Dictation, Education and Contemporary Thought, German Classics, and Fire Insurance. This semester eighty-five per cent of the adult students registered for only one course; a bare two per cent are registered for three courses. However, last year, eighty per cent enrolled for two or more courses. Courses in all departments of the university are offered to the students with the exception of science and pre-engineering.

With the university becoming municipal, only the future can tell the possibilities for adult education in Omaha. Prof. L. O. Taylor has been director for this branch of the university for the past two years.

AT THE THEATRES THIS WEEK

AT THE WORLD

The modern gangster wouldn't be allowed to wipe the dust from the boots of the old time American "bad man," in the opinion of William Collier, Sr., famous actor, who has seen both types during his lifetime.

"I remember when I was a boy," said Collier, who has a prominent role in "Mr. Lemon of Orange," the Fox gangster comedy starring El Brendel and Fifi Dorsay and opening May 1 at the World Theater "when the West was still infested with real bad men. Very few of them but were cast in heroic mould, men who would have been heroes if their energies could have been diverted to legitimate enterprises.

"Not one of them would have dreamed of shooting another man in the back, or turning loose on a crowd with a machine gun, mowing down women and children indiscriminately like the cowardly gangsters of today do.

The stage show will consist of 5 Freshmen, Dack Shing Troupe, 3 Kitchens, O'Dunn and Raye, Whitey Roberts, Orville Rennie.

What wonderful acting—what emotions—and what an actress—Constance Bennett in "Born to Love" will really hold you spellbound, will really prove to you that she is a great star and "Born to Love" is her greatest picture—coming to the RKO-Orpheum Theater, Omaha, week May 1st.

Her beauty was sold for marriage—she gave her heart from love. Constance Bennett in "Born to Love" is a woman facing woman's problems—love or conventions—duty or love, her baby or the man she loves, to choose from. All she asked of life was a perfect hour, all she received was years of unhappiness for a few brief moments of love.

On the stage—An exceptional 5-RKO-Orpheum Show headed by Broadway's own star, George Price, formerly of Shubert and Shubert's big hits, then come Frita and Jean the best, Tom and Ray Rummel, Nellie Arant and Dean, The Thakerson, Ben Sereche, Hubert Rye and Mark and Stanton complete this significant vaudeville show of quality as well as quantity.

AT THE PARAMOUNT

"The Secret Six," Mero-Goldwyn-Mayer's sensational drama of American city politics and the underworld, is the attraction which will head the program at the Paramount Theater starting Thursday, April 30.

With Wallace Beery, hero of "The Big House," and "Min and Bill," Lewis Stone, John Mack Brown, Jean Harlow and Marjorie Rambeau heading one of the biggest casts assembled in years, the picture unfolds an astounding tale based on actualities of modern American city life.

Lewis Stone portrays Newton, the unscrupulous criminal lawyer who guides the machinations of the mob from the background. Marjorie Rambeau is seen as a "gun moll"; Paul Hurst, Clark Gable, Ralph Bellamy, John Miljan, DeWitt Jennings, Murray Kinell make up the remainder of the huge cast.

RADIO PROGRAM GIVEN

The radio program for Monday, April 20, was opened by Mr. Leslie O. Moore, who sang two solos, "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride" by O'Hara, and "The Trumpeter" by Dix. Mr. N. J. Logan, director of the Conservatory, then joined Mr. Moore in a vocal duet, "Mighty Lak a Rose" by Nevin.

Following this, Miss Ellouise Jetter gave a piano solo, "Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue" by Bach. Mr. Moore again stepped to the microphone, this time singing "Trees" by Roubach and "On the Road to Mandalay" by Spence.

Miss Jetter played another number, "Preamble to the Carnival" by Bohuslava, and to conclude the program, Joseph Wandersheer sang "Friend O' Mine" by Wandersheer and "The Last Song" by Rogers.

Tuesday, April 14, Dean Dunlap spoke at a dinner at the First Presbyterian church.

Some excellent handiwork in leather and silver is being done by various students. Such articles of jewelry as rings, pendants, and pins are being made with semi-precious stone settings, as well as enamel work.

POETRY IN ASSEMBLY

"Moonlight," by Guy de Maupassant, was read by Mrs. Orr at the Friday, April 24 assembly.

To Have New Catalog

The Committee appointed to work on the new Municipal University Catalog for 1931-32 reports their work to be near completion. The manuscript will be in the hands of the printers sometime in May and will be published in June. Prof. H. R. Orr is Chairman of the Committee. The other members are: Prof. Hammer, Mr. Helmstadter, Miss Kincaide, and Miss Ward.

LIBRARY COUNTS ENTRANTS

"It's worn doorsill betraying

The feet that, dragging into school Went storming out to playing," could be written of our library as well as of Whittier's early schoolhouse. Miss Chestnut and her assistants attempted to count the number of professors and students who entered the library last Thursday and Friday.

Thursday the number reached three hundred and sixteen, at two o'clock, when the library staff gave up from exhaustion and inability at higher mathematics. Friday was more successful, the entrances of four hundred and six being noted.

The greatest difficulty was to know whether to count those who placidly stepped partway into the room, and then promptly retired. The suggestion was made that these each count one-half, but, as that complicated the arithmetic, only those who entered past the desk were recorded.

Commercial Teachers Meet at South High

The Commercial teachers and Administrators of Commercial Education of Omaha and Council Bluffs met Friday at South High school for the purpose of electing officers. This organization has been established to carry out Educational research, adopt better methods of instruction, revise the curriculum, and help in the placement of graduates. Representatives from the Omaha and Council Bluffs high schools, Creighton, and Omaha University were present at the meeting at which about 150 people were present. Representatives from Omaha University were Miss Kurtz, Mr. Helmstadter, and Mr. Hammer. Miss Hubbell, Commercial teacher at South High, was elected President of the Organization.

The main speakers of the meeting were Mayor Metcalfe and Mr. Eastburn, who heads the Committee of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

"Lines" Subject of Last Week's Forum

"A line is a line with a hook and sinker on it that you catch fish with," stated Elizabeth Wendland. "The larger the fish, the stronger the line must be." The occasion of this ostentatious remark was the Y. W. and Y. M. regular Wednesday morning Forum in the conservatory.

The subject was "Lines," Elizabeth Wendland, as a competent speaker, represented East Omaha, giving the rural atmosphere. Walford Marrs lent the audience a savory glance from South Omaha attesting that "all of us should have lines, but that they should not be allowed to grow old."

Wilma Fillers, whose experience and wit recommended her for this position, acted as chairman of the morning.

ART SKETCHES

The class in pictorial composition has recently completed several very striking Omaha posters of industries, stations, churches, and other points of interest around the city.

The sketching class went on a sketching trip down by the river last Wednesday. A picnic lunch was one of the more enjoyable features.

Children have been posing for the life drawing class. The class is constantly interested in child drawing.

Dean Dunlap addressed the George C. Cook Corps of the G. A. R. Friday, April 24, at a patriotic meeting.

Complete Outline of Life in India Given by Yadamandan Prasad

A very complete outline of India's education, politics, social life, and industries both in the past and the present was presented by Dr. Yadamandan Prasad at the Friday, April 10, assembly.

Dr. Prasad, a native of India, has been graduated from The University of India and from Cambridge University. Speaking with a slight Indian accent, the small browned man gave the Indian's viewpoint to the outsider.

"The people who have never been in India, but gain all their impressions of India from the writings of some one else, have a very distorted idea of the real India," said Mr. Prasad. "The land of India, no more than the land of America, can not be judged by one exaggerated opinion."

Dr. Prasad explained the caste system as a condition which had grown out of an economic function. It took centuries to build it up, and it can not be broken down overnight. The castes are gradually mixing together, the one restriction being that they may not intermarry. Much has been done to aid the untouchables of India through the efforts of Mr. Gandhi.

The question of women's place in India has received great attention from the whole world. Now the women come out into the streets, some of them go to schools, and they even lead parades through the streets as a result of this movement to free the women.

"As in any other great country, the education of the Indian people must be kept up," said Dr. Prasad. "While there are large English schools in the towns, the villages are being left without any training whatever. There is no money for the village school. As a result there is growing up a greater difference between the townsman and the villager."

The principles and aspirations of Mr. Gandhi were developed at great length. Dr. Prasad explained that Gandhi knew a revolt of the Indian people against England would only crushed India completely. If England herself started a war, the Indians could then return battle, although they would surely be beaten. Gandhi began a march to the sea, having great numbers of followers who gave their lives when the British officers and troops tried to stop them. Gandhi's policy was to return violence with kindness, and his will power and control over his people were such that those who were under his command were often killed without any show of battle on their part.

"Gandhi has been a tremendous influence on the Indian people, and through him much has been done in a few years that would have taken centuries if he had not been the country's leader," said his follower. "Gandhi has been, and will continue to be a great messenger of hope to the whole world, and particularly to India, who needs him so badly," finished Dr. Prasad.

Salisbury Is Navy Chaplain on "Omaha"

One of the first alumni to answer a recent questionnaire sent by Prof. Irwin Hammer was received from Stanton W. Salisbury. Mr. Salisbury is a chaplain in the navy on the United States Ship, Omaha.

"When I was in college, far from salt water, I had an idea that some day I should be in the Navy on a ship named after my home town and my alma mater." He has not recently been transferred to this ship from another. He could not wait to be President James and Prof. Hammer in their difficult but exacting task.

PLAN RECREATION PROGRAM

A committee composed of Dr. Charles A. Reed, Omaha attorney representing the Chamber of Commerce, Miss Esther Johnson, publication editor of the Journal News, and Dr. T. West Schlemmer, head of the Recreation department, have studied the Mayor's plan, and are on the recreation situation in Omaha. The committee made recommendations for the establishment of a municipal recreation program.

TRACK MEET BEGINS GALA DAY; MANY EVENTS SCHEDULED

Bradfield, Roberts and Dunlap Officiate

MANY PARTICIPANTS

At eight o'clock sharp in the cool breezes of the morning the Gala Day athletes will engage in contest at the North High Track.

The participants will start the day off with a bang (from the starter's gun) and will run off the scheduled events of the day.

The first event will be the one hundred yard dash and all ten second men will be on hand to run. The two twenty and four forty will succeed the hundred.

The field events will be both high jump and broad jump. The shot putt will be an interesting event as it has been reported that Mr. Everett Huff will doff his attire and will heave the iron ball out of the lot. He has had much experience with iron balls particularly those with chains attached.

The class relay will terminate the events for the day. Medals are to be given to the first, second and third winners in every event but the relay.

A solid gold (plated) loving cup is to be presented to the one who attains individual honors. The officials for the fray are Pro. Bradfield, Coach Roberts and possibly Dean Dunlap.

An imposing array of flying feet have signified their intentions of competing. Among the most proficient in this Anthenian sport are Widoe, high point man last year; Armentrout, Krutchen, Huff and Huff, Richard Dunlap, and Burke. With such track celebrities in evidence, this track meet bids fair to become the most interesting event of the day. However, one must get up early to get in on the beginning.

Cardinals Lose to Burch's Packers 22-1 Saturday

Coach Bradfield's Omaha University baseballers played Barney Burch's Omaha Packers last Saturday, at League Park. The score was very much against the Munny players, but this was to be expected, as the Packers are league players of several years' experience, while most of the Cardinals are spending their first season under any form of coaching.

The boys did quite well, however, and with a bit more effective pitching and mental alertness, would have given very good account of themselves.

The actual score was 22 to 1, the collegians' score coming when Samly Armentrout was hit by a pitched ball, took second on a passed ball, and came home on Huff's single into right field.

The Munny lineup was:
Roberts—C. F.
Larsen—L. F. P.
M. Hargrove—3B.
E. Armentrout—R. F.
L. Armentrout—2B.
Huff—C.
B. Hargrove—1B.
Bodie—P. L. F.

Reorganized "O" Club Provides Life Passes To All Lettermen

The "O" Club of the University has reorganized with Ben Huff as acting chairman and DeLoss Thompson as secretary. Five meetings have been held since February. A motion has been passed whereby any man who has earned a letter award either past or present for any sport at the University may have a life pass to all future contests sponsored by the University.

The drawing up of the constitution has also been completed by a committee composed of John Roberts, chairman; Ben Huff and DeLoss Thompson.

The "O" club handled the ticket sale for the Senior Play. Those members living at the football dormitory were especially active in this sale. The Club has also managed the acquiring of letter sweaters for this year's football and basketball men.

The next meeting at which the election of officers for next year will take place will be held Wednesday evening, May 6, in Joslyn Hall. Every letter man should turn out for this important meeting, according to Ben Huff, acting chairman.

FROM TIME TO TIME

Ah sweet mysteries of life! What doth thy mystery offer to compete with the soft warm winds of a lackadaisical spring? What canst thou give us that could harmonize with the sound of returned birds and walking couples heedlessly parading through the park, hearts beating together with the sound of the growing flowers and sailing clouds?

Canst induce fair maidens to give in sighing acquiescence soft clinging lips to manly necks and noses? Canst make cold naive senoritas sing in joyful ecstasy their songs of love and matchmaking?

Aye, sweet mysteries of life, I fear thou canst not do these things for only the exotic perfume of budding flowers and soft whispering breezes can take fair maidens into the land of make-believe and love.

Forsooth sweet mysteries, powers are limited and thy questionable nature holds nothing in common with sprightly youth and lovesick domestics. For only spring in its joyous laziness can call forth its elf of hearts and make a grand slam. For if thou failest to finance thou art in danger of being the dummy.

'Tis said he who canst not finance shall be proclaimed a dummy throughout the kingdom of hearts and clubs. For no sweet princess wishes in her virgin heart to pay for the tickets to the woodland opera nor does she like to drive her father's chariot when he is with her.

Chivalry to Ride Again at Omaha Uni; Airplane Course Offered for Next Fall

In days of old when knights were bold, huge muscled, men rode on brawny steeds of speed and beauty. Today in the days of gas, since knighthood has passed, cool clever men ride sleek, slim steeds of speed and grace.

The airplane has come to stay and the man or woman who still believes in romance can find it aplenty in studying aviation. No other occupation aside from playing opposite Greta Garbo or John Gilbert offers a more romantic background and future.

The Cadet system is to be installed in this university next September. It is the basic training course of aviation. Mr. Dunlap of Aeronautic fame and poet laureate of Omaha, is one of the members of the consulting and advisory staff. Mr. Dunlap's wide experience in aeronautics has enabled him to bring to this school the finest and most complete course in aviation.

The course will be thirty-six weeks in length at one dollar and a half per week. Making a total of seventy-five dollars per semester. The classes will be held in Joslyn Hall in the evenings from seven to nine o'clock.

The Midland Institute of Aviation has compiled the most complete set of wall charts obtainable. There are one hundred and five charts and all text book material will be given to the students taking the course free of charge. The text books to be used are of recent origin. They are up to date to the last detail. The instructors in this course have taken a special four weeks' instructors course before they are examined for the position of teaching this new subject.

There are seventy-eight schools on the Pacific coast using the same text as the Midland Institute will use here.

The course covers all theory and ground work. This preliminary work must be successfully gone over and accepted before the student can obtain his pilot's license. Flying time can be obtained at a discount through a special arrangement with the Rapid Air Lines.

There are to be five different phases of this course taught here. The first phase is to be for the general public, any one interested in general ground work. The second is for high school seniors only. The third group is for high school juniors only. The fourth is for women. This is not primarily for the actual flying of a plane but to acquaint women and girls with the different technical expressions and terms necessary for any stenographer or secretary of aviation firms. This course for women will be a great aid in obtaining work with aviation companies, as women with aeronautical training are in great demand at the present time.

The fifth phase in this group is for business men only who are eager to fly their own planes or for the purpose of posting themselves upon aeronautical business so as to be able to cope with those who are already well versed in aviation.

Lectures are to be given upon supplementary material. The course is to be most complete and interesting. It has been endorsed by the state board of education of Nebraska. Books will be available at the Omaha Public Library for supplementary reading. These books have just been received by the library.

Such schools as Great Lakes Naval Training school, Penn State University, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Southern California, and University of Iowa have installed this course in their curriculum.

What If—

It isn't often that a college professor calls down one of his students, but when it does happen the student grumbles to himself just as though the professor were at fault.

On the other hand, football coaches spend much of their time finding fault with their proteges in a verbal manner all their own. What if coaches were professors? If they were, perhaps the classroom dialogue would sound thus:

"What's the matter with you bunch of hoboes? I want you to put some pep into the recitation this morning. You're not at any pink tea. All you've done this year is stall around, and I'm one guy that won't stand for it, see? Yeah, I mean you Billings, and you, too, Hart."

"There's one thing that I don't like about you Hart, and that is that you're too d——cocky. Can you recite the lines of Shakespeare that I assigned for today? You can't do it? That's about the class of work you've been doing all year."

"Hey, you dizzy blond in the front row, can you come out of the coma and give it? All right, that's not bad. You're showing better form, blonde."

Gala Day Tennis Tourney Planned; All Pairings Made

Final pairings have just been completed and all is prepared for the annual spring Gala Day tennis tournament. The awards will be made at the Gala Nite show.

Numerous dark horses are entered and are expected to give last year's stars a run for the honors. The most outstanding "unknown", who is playing in midseason form, is Richard Sevlck.

Hollister and Arthur, the favorites of last year's tournament, are expected to repeat. However, with the entry of many new and subsequently fine players will make this year's tournament the closest in years.

Pairings

Singles:

Arthur vs. Marrs; Dixon vs. Gideon; Sulhoff vs. Woerner; Hubler vs. Streiwieser; Shonfelt vs. Strawn; J. Barber vs. Foster; Ottman vs. Hulse; Neal vs. Hills; Hayes vs. Sevlck; Hollister vs. Hanks; Fischer vs. Sellner; Hegarty vs. Willard; Larson vs. Wholers; Evans vs. B. Huff.

Doubles:

Hoover and Clausen vs. Wholers and Gideon; Arthur and Hollister vs. Hubler and Hills; Sevlck and Shinrock vs. Hegarty and Neal; Ottmann and Gamble drew a bye for the first round.

The first matches in the singles are to be played April 30th. The second round is to be played May 7th and the semi-finals the 14th of May. The final match will be played May 21.

The doubles matches begin May 7. The semi-finals are to be played May 14th. And the finals will be decided May 21.

form, blonde.

"Wake up, Smith, and tell me where Shakespeare was born. What? Why, you half-wit, you lumb chuck, gowan to the showers. I mean it, don't stand there with that faraway look in your eyes. Git!"

"I don't know what you'll do when you meet the semester exams. I can't drill any knowledge through your phoney domes. I give up. Get out of here now and don't show up again until you study your lessons."

CARDS PLAY GOOD BALL GAME AGAINST BURCH'S PACKERS

Hargrove Pitches Good Brand of Ball

"BOZO" HUFF INSERTED

The Card baseball team, with Earl Hargrove pitching a steady brand of ball, held the Packers to a 12 to 1 score in the two teams' last encounter.

"Bozo" Huff was inserted in the line-up at first base and handled eighteen chances with no errors. He steadied the infield and their play was much improved over their last performance against the Packers.

John Roberts again secured two hits, one good for two bases, but he was guilty of some foolish baserunning which cost the Cards a score.

Gish caught a good game although failing to hit safely in three tries. The boys were supposed to play the Packers again last week but the inclement weather cheated them out of their chance to even the score.

With the return of good weather this week, the team will resume practice.

The score was:
Munny Uni .....000 000 000—0
Packers .....110 120 34x—12

American University has initiated a new method of grading by which each student will be given only a passing or failing mark. The change is made in hope that it would make the student place more emphasis on the acquisition of knowledge and less on grades.

At the University of Wisconsin, students are required to carry identification cards to prove that they are entitled to attend classes. It was found that many outsiders were coming to classes and acquiring free education.

Yale University has abolished mid-term examinations in its Arts college, and beginning next year a student will be required to complete successfully each previous year's work before enrolling at the University for another term.
